

Is there a better way
to go green?

The path to a green building starts with a solid foundation.

Our people, solutions and services take the guesswork out of making your green building goals a reality — whether using renewable resources, improving indoor environmental quality or developing energy-efficiency and emissions-reduction programs. In addition, we can help you earn an ENERGY STAR® label and achieve LEED™ certification. With Siemens, you can be certain that your green initiatives benefit the environment as well as your bottom line. For more information go to: usa.siemens.com/GSgreen.
